Three official appointments by Cone Mills Inc., New York, were announced today. They are Lewis M. Heflin, executive vice president; Robert C. Shaw, vice president, and Thomas R. C. Hood, vice president.

LEWIS M. HEFLIN APPOINTED EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Cone Mills Inc., has announced the appointment of Lewis M. Heflin as executive vice president, effective immediately. Mr. Heflin, who joined the Cone organization 20 years ago as a member of the financial department, was elected as a director and assistant secretary of the company in 1940, and as secretary in 1941.

In 1949, Mr. Heflin was elected vice president of Cone Mills Inc. and in 1950, he became a director of Cone Mills Corporation, Greensboro, the parent organization for which he also serves as assistant treasurer.

Mr. Heflin is a graduate of Duke University, and, as a member of the New York Alumni Committee, has been active in fund raising for the college.

He is a member of the Arbitration Council of the textile industry, the financial group of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants, and the New York Chamber of Commerce. He is a former member of the Textile Section of the New York Board of Trade.

In his new post as executive vice president, Mr. Heflin will continue his duties as secretary of Cone Mills Inc.

ROBERT SHAW IS VICE PRESIDENT

Cone Mills Inc., has just announced the appointment of Robert C. Shaw as vice-president.

Mr. Shaw, who celebrated his 25th anniversary with the Cone organization in July, 1953, began to work for the company at the age of 15 when he was employed during three consecutive summers while still attending school.

In 1928, he joined Cone Mills on a full-time basis as a clerical worker, and in 1932 was made a sales representative. From 1932 until 1939, he sold the Cone lines, covering New York state and Pennsylvania.

In 1940, Mr. Shaw was made assistant to the merchandising head of the work denim and covert department, and in 1948, he became co-manager of that department.

In 1950 he was appointed assistant vice-president and manager of his department. He will continue in this capacity with his new appointment as vice-president.

THOMAS HOOD IS VICE PRESIDENT

Cone Mills Inc., has announced the appointment of Thomas R. C. Hood as vice-president.

Mr. Hood joined Cone Mills in 1948 as a sales representative to the resident buying trade in New York City. He served as a captain in the U. S. Marine Corps from 1943 to 1946, and on his return to Cone Mills, was assigned the handling of several of the larger manufacturing and chain store accounts.

In 1948, Mr. Hood was made co-manager of the denim and covert department and in 1950 he became assistant vice-president, working on the chain store accounts.

In September, 1950, he was recalled into the Marine Corps and served again as a captain in Korea until June, 1952, when he returned to his position at Cone Mills.

Before joining the Cone organization, Miss Clarke was publicity director of McCall's Pattern Co. ## Haw River Kiwanis Club Has Birthday

Haw River Kiwanis Club celebrated its fifth anniversary Monday evening, April 6. The dinner meeting was held in the dining room of the Haw River Methodist Church. Bradley Rich, a Kiwanian, prepared the supper.

Members of the Durham, Graham, Burlington, and Washington, N. J. Clubs attended the meeting. Spurgeon Boyce was the guest speaker. Mr. Boyce was the governor of the Carolina District when the Haw River Club was organized.

The Haw River Club is proud of the projects it has sponsored throughout the past five years. At present one of the members, Arthur Makin, is Lt. Governor of the Fifth Division. Mr. Makin is Superintendent of Granite Plant.

The Kirsks lived in Durham a short while, then moved to Burlington. They lived there a few months and then moved to Greensboro. In both of these towns Miss Kirk found employment in cotton mills and became adept at weaving. The family lived in Greensboro a few years and then returned to Salisbury. "Josie," as she is known to everyone, went to work in what was then known as the old Salisbury Mill as a weaver and has been employed in that capacity since that time. She has spent 65 years at this same plant.

"Josie" recalls the time when the weave room, the spinning room and the card room were all located in what is now the card room.

At seventy-nine she is still as spry as ever. Her greatest rewards in life have come through being able to help put a few nephews and grand-nephews through college, and she still has ambitions of Mrs. Frances Funderburk, head of Women's Department of the local Y, is making the plans for the Cooking School.

Miss Kirk Is Serving Salisbury Plant 69th Yr.

Sixty-nine years spent as an employee in textile mills have afforded Miss Josephine Kirk a good view of progress in the industry. The fact that she has spent 65 years with one plant, Cone Mills' Salisbury Plant, speaks well for the mill and its management.

This oldest employee of Cone Mills' Salisbury Plant was born in Rowan County, August 23, 1874.

Later, her family moved to Durham where she began work in the East Durham Cotton Mill.

The Kirsks lived in Durham a short while, then moved to Burlington. They lived there a few months and then moved to Greensboro. In both of these towns Miss Kirk found employment in cotton mills and became adept at weaving. The family lived in Greensboro a few years and then returned to Salisbury. ## N. Y. Textile Trade Paper Cites Editorial In April 2 Textorian

The textile trade paper states: "The alarm in textile centers regarding the influences which have been working toward lower tariffs has been reflected in these columns repeatedly and emphatically on many occasions."

"The following extracts from an editorial in The Textorian, weekly newspaper of the Cone Mills, Greensboro, N. C., should be of unusual interest, coming as it does from one of the important mill areas."

The article quotes several paragraphs from the editorial.

No longer does Junior have to be frightened with too much required routine such as vaccinations and physical examination on his first day at school. This year's pre-school clinic to be at Proximity School on Friday, April 23 will consist of registration, a motion picture and refreshments for the boys and girls. While the children are being entertained, the parents will be in a separate room hearing a round robin discussion on ways to prepare their children for beginning school.

Taking part in the discussion will be Mrs. Alice Wellons, first grade teacher, Miss Lucinda Jones, school nurse; C. E. Rankin, school principal; and a parent of children now in school.

The course of future U. S. foreign trade policy and proposed changes in government policy affecting textiles will be evaluated by top-flight authorities at three separate forum sessions, one of the most important of which is devoted entirely to world trade.

O. Glenn Saxon, professor of economics at Yale University will speak on the foreign trade panel.

Center of Interest

Interest is particularly centered on the foreign trade discussion, since more fiber crosses international borders than food, and the U. S. volume of cotton goods exports has dropped from one and a half billion yards in 1947 to around 600 million yards in 1953, exceeded by the volume of Japan, Great Britain and India, in that order.

The panel discussions have been set for Friday morning, second day of the convention, following an address by Kenneth Kramer, executive editor of Business Week. The other forums embrace the subjects of national affairs and taxation. W. A. L. Sibley, Union, S. C., will preside over the national affairs panel, and C. W. Kable, New York, taxation.

A recent study by Dr. Claudius T. Murchison, economic adviser to the ACMI, pointed out that American industries differ widely in make-up, their use of machine power and manpower, and their manufacturing costs against product prices, as well as in range and character of their competition.

In a report to textile management he said that current proposals for sweeping tariff cuts pose a "life and death" issue for many U. S. industries.

U. S. textile mill efficiency stems from "uniquely domestic economic factors," he said, and takes the form of better goods, greater variety, lower relative prices, higher wages and small earnings.

The U. S. textile industry lacks power, he added, to triple its output in order to overcome the wage-cost gap that now favors England's textile industry, let alone attain the 10-fold increase needed to compete on an equal basis with countries like Japan and India.

The Murchison report stressed the importance of currency convertibility as a necessary first step in the restoration of multilateral world trade. Removal of a "meshwork of trade and exchange restrictions" almost universal outside the North American continent was also underscored as a necessity.

The opening meeting of the textile industry's major over-all trade association on Thursday morning will include the annual meeting of the institute's president, H. K. Hallett, Charlotte.

Other speakers will include Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., speaker of the House of Representatives, who will speak Saturday morning at the concluding session; Rep. Samuel K. McConnell, Jr., chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, and F. Marion Rhodes, director of the Cotton Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture; Kenneth W. ### A Necessary Investigation

The announcement that the Federal Housing Agency will be thoroughly probed and that the files have been seized comes as no great shock or surprise. There have been rumblings for many years as to procedure and activity in that agency.

It is unfair and unAmerican to condemn an agency or a person without a fair trial. For that reason we strongly advocate a thorough investigation of the operations of the Federal Housing Agency and also a similar probe into intermediary activities by private agencies and individuals not directly connected with the Federal Housing Agency but that played an important part in the ultimate transactions.

We have been led to believe that many different groups have fitted into the negotiations. In order to properly handle the affairs of the Agency, it may have been necessary for intermediaries; however, we feel that the situation should also be explored.

The very object behind the establishment of the Federal Housing Administration and the provision of funds for its functioning may have been at times impaired by the methods and procedures used. In other words, it is felt by some that those who needed financial assistance in building and modernizing their homes on the most economical basis have paid far more for what they received than was ever intended for them to pay.

The chances are great that cases will be uncovered which will prove to be shocking. On the other hand, we hope that if some individuals and groups have been guilty of unfair and dishonest practices that the innocent and well-intending will not be made to suffer.

We again repeat that we feel a thorough investigation should be made of the Federal Housing Administration, its practices and methods, but that such an investigation be made fairly and without prejudice.

By Wayne Cates
Cone Y.M.C.A. Office Bowling Tournament got under way this week with lots of surprises.

On Monday night at the Proximity Y.M.C.A., the Laboratory, a team which has improved very much (or should I say, a team which has just gotten into shape), defeated the Revolution Office by only six pins in an exciting contest.

After the first game the Lab picked up a 39 pin lead, and a great comeback try by Revolution's Will Marshburn and Ventry Hinshaw, 306, was unsuccessful. The Laboratory was led by Thomas Coffer and Fitts Seabolt.

In the other game at the White Oak Y.M.C.A., the Proximity Comets, led by D. O. Myrick, Gene Neiers, Jim Ward and Jim Perrin, defeated the Payroll Office to advance into the semi-finals. James Weaver and John Crowder were the top bowlers for the Payroll team.

On Tuesday night at the White Oak Y.M.C.A. once again the Lab proved that they are determined to win by defeating the strong and outstanding Rayon team 65 pins. Thomas Coffer and Fitts Seabolt again led their teammates to victory, putting them in the finals of the tournament.

After bowling a very good first game, the Rayon team just couldn't seem to take advantage of their breaks; however, this team is one of the best balanced teams in the league. Roger Johnson and Jack Hughes were the top bowlers for the Rayon.

After having a bye, the Proximity Goats defeated the Proximity Comets at the Proximity Y.M.C.A. Ray Smith, Jim Fuller and Monroe Whitt led the Goats, while Gene Neiers and D. O. Myrick were the top bowlers for the Comets.

High team game and set in the tournament so far go to the Laboratory and Goats with a total of 498 and 1420 pins, respectively. High individual set goes to Thomas Coffer with a total of 316 pins and high individual game goes to Ventry Hinshaw and Will Marshburn with a total of 117 pins.

Monday—Laboratory 1416 Defeated Revolution 1410; Comets 1311 defeated Payroll 1309.

Tuesday—Laboratory 1413 defeated Rayon 1348; Goats 1420 defeated Comets 1305.

Finals—Goats vs Lab at 6:30 p.m. April 20—place undecided.
